

Padma Kuppa, is an engineer and experienced IT analyst currently working in Troy, MI where she and her family live. She is a co-founder of Troy-area Interfaith Group and the Outreach Committee at the Bharatiya Temple of Metropolitan Detroit, and is a Planning Commissioner for Troy, MI. She is a Board member of the Michigan Roundtable for Diversity and Inclusion, the Hindu American Foundation, and the Troy Historical Society, as well as an Advisory Board member of the women's interfaith organization, WISDOM, She is a published writer (internationally!) and blogs at patheos.com. She has received multiple awards and congressional recognition for her community leadership, including induction into the MI-India Hall of Fame (2015), and has been involved in many Hindu events and initiatives, including Hindu American Seva, Hindu American Chaplaincy, World Hindu Congress 2014, and HMEC.